PORTLAND (April 6, 2020) – Snell & Wilmer is pleased to announce that Victor J. Roehm III has joined the firm's new Portland office as a partner in the commercial finance group.

Roehm focuses his practice on commercial and public finance transactions, as well as other corporate and real estate transactional matters. He arrives from Sussman & Shank LLP, where he was a partner and co-chair of the banking and finance practice group.

The addition of Roehm builds on the commercial finance capabilities Snell & Wilmer gained in Portland earlier this year when it entered the market through a combination with law firm Assayag Mauss. For Roehm, it marks a return to Snell & Wilmer, where he spent seven years as an associate focusing on commercial finance and real estate transactions.

Roehm's finance experience includes syndicated credit facilities, borrowing base financings, mezzanine loans, real estate secured term and construction loans for office buildings, retail centers, housing developments, hotels and health care facilities, lines of credit and factoring agreements. He advises his clients in connection with loan workouts, restructurings, foreclosures, discounted payoffs and deeds-in-lieu of foreclosure.

Roehm has also represented corporate and business clients on issues ranging from entity formation and restructuring to complex mergers and acquisitions. Additionally, he regularly advises clients in connection with the acquisition, sale and leasing of real property. He has experience representing clients in highly regulated industries, including healthcare and cannabis.

"I'm thrilled to be rejoining Snell & Wilmer at this stage of my career," Roehm said. "I've seen first-hand the unwavering commitment this firm has to its clients and am excited to be a part of its growth in the Northwest."

Roehm received his J.D. from the University of Cincinnati College of Law and his B.A., magna cum laude, from Ohio University. He is a member of the Commercial Finance Committee of the American Bar Association and is Vice-Chair of its Real Estate Financing Subcommittee.
