Main Bio

With over 30 years of legal and accounting industry experience, Jeff Beck is skilled at helping clients through their most sophisticated SEC reporting and governance issues as well as complex business transactions.

Jeff maintains a robust SEC reporting and corporate governance practice. He advises clients regarding an array of matters such as managing board fiduciary duties and drafting offering and disclosure documents to ensuring compliance with SEC and other regulatory standards. Jeff advises clients on a wide range of capital markets transactions, including bond and equity financing transactions, as well as syndicated revolving credit facilities. He also maintains an active mergers and acquisition practice. As a result of Jeff's business and legal acumen, he has been recognized by The Best Lawyers in America® for Corporate Law.

Prior to attending law school, Jeff was a senior audit manager at KPMG LLP in Phoenix, Arizona, and audited some of the largest companies in Arizona. Jeff combines his extensive experience as a securities law attorney with his financial acumen gained from his accounting education and experience as a Big 4 auditor to provide trusted guidance to clients as they navigate the legal and financial disclosures required by the various securities laws.

Jeff is also editor of the firm's newsletter The Corporate Communicator.
